THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1908

Hon. J. C. Boone, chairman of the Marion County Election Commission, deserves commendation for the fair and efficient manner in which he conducts the affairs of his office. There is no gainsaying the fact that Mr. Boone is one of the best men for the place that the county could afford. He takes an interest in the office, does his full duty and is strictly fair and honest with all concerned. The official ballots for the county for last Tuesday's election were printed at this office and we can certify that Mr. Boone exercised the greatest care in the handling and distribution of the required number of ballots to each voting precinct.—So, Pittsburg Hustler.

We call the attention of the Hustler to one thing that Mr. Boone don't do, and that is, have published a proper notice of election to be held, accompanied by the names of the officials at each voting precinct who are to conduct it. If the other counties of the state do this, why not Marion. Perhaps, Mr. Boone, however, has secured special legislation letting him off from this important duty of his office.

Some of our democratic papers remark in half-hearted style that this country will go on just the same. You bet it will. This is a great big country, full of busy, enterprising men, and if there is anything to be done they are going to do it. There will be no laying back on the oars for them. Because the republicans scored another tally it don't mean interest will be lost in the game. It's up to everybody to get cheerful and go to work knocking home runs.

The killing of ex-senator E. W. Carmack was a coward's work, no chance being given him to defend himself. Carmack, as a man who was not afraid to attack an evil, was worth more to the state than a myriad of such men as his slayer and accomplice. However, the reform movement will go on, other hands being eager to take it up. It would be well, though, to change the seal of the state from "Agriculture and Commerce" to "Murder and Assassination," with the word "Pardon" prominent over all.

The "crime wave" seems to have hit Tennessee hard. To prevent it from spreading take that gun or pistol and either put it out of use as a weapon by breaking it, or throw it into a river. Thus you will be able to better resist the inclination to kill somebody when you get mad and haven't got it available. Also it won't be hanging around "unloaded," to go off and kill somebody of its own accord. The "crime wave" seriously is getting tremendous.

When preachers get to preaching sermons on what a man shall not do and why, instead of rambling discourses on "Faith," etc., then some practical good will be accomplished. It is years since we heard a discourse based on the Ten Commandments, or any one of them except in the precincts of a certain church. Sam Jones was about the only man in this state, outside this certain church who dared tell people what they should not do.

As long as alluring advertisements are printed in magazines depicting the pleasure from the ownership of a pistol, so long will young Tennessee continue to wear one in his pocket. And the boy is father to the man. Homicide in intent means the crime later, if opportunity is given.

Another assassination! This time near Coalton. The era of the gun truly has arrived, and no man's life is safe. Shoot anybody down you don't like and if you are ever convicted, you can get a pardon. What a "farce-tragedy" things are, anyway.

Indications point to the completion of the Memphis extension of the Southern. Let 'er rip! This country can stand lots more railway lines traversing it.

Give the boy a hoe instead of a gun. Christmas. Teach him that the former means grub, and the latter may mean murder.

When a man "gets religion", and don't know the Ten Commandments that man's religion is "mighty on-sart-in."

From Philosopher's Note Book.

A successful man never hits the nail on the head.

Forgetfulness of yesterday and anticipation of tomorrow make trouble-some today.

The man that borrows trouble has at least the solace of knowing that no one will ever dun him to pay it back.

Possibly the chap who grows about the washday dinner would have found it more pleasing to his taste if he had done the washing—Success Magazine.

MURDER OF MR. CARMACK.

The killing of ex-Senator Edward W. Carmack by the Coopers yesterday on the streets of Nashville, from all the information obtainable appears to have been deliberate and premeditated. In no kind of circumstances so far suggested, can there be urged the slightest justification for the crime, and the tragedy constitutes the worst blot ever put upon Tennessee. Mr. Carmack, as editor of the Tennessean, since his defeat for the gubernatorial nomination has been, it is true, aggressive, sometimes violent, in attacking what he was pleased to call "a corrupt and conscienceless political machine in control of the dominant faction of the democratic party," but he has never written anything challenging even physical violence, much less assassination.

Col. Duncan Cooper and his son are men of high standing at Nashville, and are influential citizens in social as well as political life, and their resort to this shocking deed, so uncalculated, so unprovoked and so cruel, reflects shame and humiliation upon Tennesseeans and writes them down as little removed from savages. It is a call to every Tennesseean, therefore, to look about him and see that something serious is wrong with our system of criminal jurisprudence; that the enforcement of law has been but a mockery, and that the life of no man who has the courage and determination to say and do what he thinks is right is safe from the bullets of men whom he dares to oppose.

The effect of this terrible tragedy will not only bring shame upon us abroad but it will arouse bitter and harmful contentions at home and create animosities among the people from which we cannot hope to escape without serious and disturbing differences. Senator Carmack was a brilliant man; an honor to his state, and the idol of a large circle of friends and admirers who will deeply resent the outrageous and cowardly method of his taking off. There will be no rest, no quiet and no satisfaction until the law is invoked, its majesty upheld and justice is done. In this hour of intense excitement we counsel moderation and advise every citizen to rely upon the courts to uphold the right and to vindicate the fair name of the state.—Chattanooga Times, Tuesday.

ONE EDITOR'S VIEW.

The election is over. The people have spoken with no uncertain voice. Taft goes into the Presidential chair on the 4th of next March. It was not a landslide, but an avalanche. And there is no use kicking. It was the people who did it, and "let the people rule." They have treated Bryan, as they treated Daniel Webster, John Calhoun, and all their other great men. There is no longer any democratic party. Nothing but the name and a remnant of people without a leader. This remnant, in our opinion, should submit to destiny and to a man, go into the Republican camp, and share the spoils, as far as they will go. It will save expense, labor, and political hatred, and strengthen the republic in every way, to let the old donkey die. We always held the opinion that men and not parties should govern this country, and we hold the same opinion still.—Chippewa Falls, Wis., Sentinel.

NO WHISKEY "ADS."

We have received an inquiry from a liquor firm asking if we would take whiskey advertisements. We answer "No" a thousand times. As long as this paper remains under its present management no whiskey ads shall ever go down the throat of the Dyer Reporter. We do not want to place red temptation before men made in God's image that they might become demons of hell. So long as young people and children read this paper no advertisement of this kind will ever be permitted to enter its columns. The press should be a builder of morals and not a sower of discord. It should be a source of wholesome uplift to the community and not a force to aid in making devils of men.—Dyer Reporter.

SUPT. SOPER BANQUETTED

HEAD OF THE DIXIE PORTLAND CEMENT CO. PROMOTED TO DETROIT.

SOUTH PITTSBURG, Tenn., Nov. 10.—One of the grandest banquets ever given in this city was that tendered to Superintendent Ellis Soper at the club room of the big plant of the Dixie Portland Cement Company in this city Saturday night.

Mr. Soper having been promoted to higher work and called to Detroit, Mich., the office boys and foremen of the various departments were called together to pay to him their tribute of love and respect. After a selection by the Dixie Concert Band, of which B. F. Howland is president and Professor B. G. Daniels director, a lengthy speech was made by Treasurer Hardy, followed by the presentation to Mr. Soper of a fine and costly silver set. Then each and everyone present expressed in few and choice words their love for their friend who was about to depart.

Sandwiches and coffee were then served in the spacious dining room of the club house. Another selection by the band and "Rah! Rah! Rah! Soper!" concluded the banquet.

Mr. Soper supervised the construction of the big cement plant here and his disposition for gaining friendship was most remarkable.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Announcement

WE succeed J. C. Ealy at this place in the Hardware, Undertaking and House-furnishing business, and propose to carry a full line of everything belonging to these lines and thereby be able to supply the country and fill a long-felt want for a house carrying a line of goods at a better price than can be had if you send or go abroad. The people can come to us and find what they want when they want it. We expect to sell for cash or on short time to those who are known to us to be prompt pay according to terms of sale. We cannot begin to name all the different items we carry, but when we say that we carry hardware it means that you can buy from us all kinds of shelf-goods, edge-tools, plows, fence wire, stoves of all kinds, grates, tinware, dishes, nails, locks, hinges, miners' tools, all kinds furniture, mattresses, bed springs, cots, bed blankets, comforts, window curtains and shades—in fact everything that is needed to go into the house including matting, large and small rugs, and art squares. We also carry brick and lime, a full line of leather goods, saddles, bridles, lines, buggy and wagon harness, collars and pads.

We also carry a full and complete line of coffins, caskets, and burial robes and suits for men and women. In this line we are able to furnish you any goods you may want, day or night. We own and keep ready for use a city-style, elegant, glass-sided hearse, which we will furnish to anyone within five miles of Whitwell except to go into a rough section of country where it would be unsafe to take a fine hearse, all free, except the team which we do not keep and would charge for. We do not put off unsightly jobs but have an expert trimmer who turns out nothing but jobs that are first-class. When you need anything in this line see us. It will surprise you to see the beautiful robes and suits we carry, and how cheaply we can fit you up.

As we said we cannot name in this space all the different items we carry. Come and see us. We especially invite housekeepers to see what we have, we carry so many desirable things that are seldom found outside of the large cities. One great aim we have and expect to carry out in our business, will be to keep the best goods in our line. The best is the cheapest.

PROMINENT YOUNG MAN FOUND DEAD

Riderless Horse Leads to the Discovery of His Body. Was Murdered.

TULLAHOMA, Tenn., Nov. 10.—The body of Glenn Martin was found late this evening four miles from Coalton with a bullet hole through the forehead. He was the second son, aged 21, of F. B. Martin, president of Sewanee Coal & Fuel Company, and left here at noon today to go to the mines at Coalton, being a civil engineer and a graduate of Georgia School of Technology. His riderless horse coming in, led to the search and discovery of the body.

The general belief is that he was foully assassinated, there having been some trouble this summer over the labor question.

Mr. Martin was a member of the Knights of Pythias lodge and a young man of exemplary habits. The body will be brought here for burial. He leaves father, mother and two brothers, the older brother being Erle Martin, until recently cashier of the Trader's Bank, now in charge of the mining company's new headquarters at Chattanooga.

ITALIAN GETS WARNING

"Band of Laborers" Do Not Want Any "Dagoes."

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 10.—S. R. Guarino, editor of the Italian newspaper published at Ensley and agent for an Italian immigration concern, who recently announced that he had cabled for a large number of Italian laborers to come to the Birmingham district, has received through the mails a letter threatening him. The letter is signed by a "band of laborers" and asserts that "dagoes" are not wanted in this district and that the receiver of the letter should remember what was done to his countrymen in New Orleans a few years back.

Mr. Guarino will turn the letter over to the government inspectors for consideration.

A Hair's Breadth Escape.

Do you know that every time you have a cough or cold and let it run on thinking it will just cure itself, you are inviting pneumonia, consumption or some other pulmonary trouble? Don't risk it. For best grades of job work send to the News job office. Prompt delivery of all orders, and all work carefully done.

No man ever got to the top in business without good clothes. That is a fact that every young man should remember. Some may think that skill alone, or originality, but they are not. Without good clothes, skill has so poor a chance of success that it may not be given an opportunity to prove itself; without good clothes, originality is discredited by the natural presumption that, however talented it may be, it is "dressed" and indifferent and not self-respectful; without good clothes energy bears the look of mere physical strength, not the mental alertness which successful business men are always on the lookout for.

In short, "the good clothes route" is the smoothest road to commercial preference—and has been traveled by practically every winner in the long-distance race for business eminence. And for those few who "spit" into quick success—good clothes are even more a vital factor.

That much settled, don't forget that high-class garments must be made to order.

They must be yours because they were made for you—not simply because you bought them.

If you buy "ready-mades" you may, and ten to one you will, be wearing some other man's clothes. Paying for them doesn't make them your clothes except in a legal sense. To be your clothes they must fit you—they must be as much a consistent part of your outward personality as your physical features.

Isn't it true?

If you tie?
